

TODD HYNES
Vice President,
Strategic Distribution Programs
ivari

As Vice President of Strategic Distribution Programs at ivari, Todd leads ivari's Business Development team and has national sales responsibility for strategic distribution programs including Convergis and for ivari's unique partnerships with firms such as Insurance Supermarket and Specialty Life.

He and his team work closely with Canada's largest distribution firms to deliver the ivari experience to independent advisors across the country. His passion and focus is on attracting and developing the next generation of insurance professionals.

Todd brings a wide range of skills and experience, having started his career as an advisor in 1983. He has worked in sales management and executive positions for several of Canada's largest financial institutions, in both career and brokerage environments.