LEADERSHIP REQUIRED: Defusing the Family Business Time Bomb

There is a huge responsibility involved in the transference of wealth from those who have created it...to those who may or may not want to take responsibility for its preservation and growth. The challenges and opportunities involved in transferring accumulated wealth/equity in the succession planning process is a delicate balance that must be carefully managed.

This session will explore the question, where do you thrive? It's an important question that needs to be answered if you are thinking about your business succession plan. This is about your business persona. The "fit" you will find in managing your business succession – or helping your clients manage theirs – must enable you to think about what's right for you AND your business. It will also enable you to continue to create both an income annuity and a business asset of value to your successors along the way. This is critical in managing the long-term health of any business, but most small business owners spend very time on the latter. The process is about three things: philosophy, culture and continuity. Find out more in this informative and engaging session.
